

AMG LinkedIn Strategy

Content Pillar

- Mondays: Industry Tips
  - We take the weekly tips from Instagram and repurpose them as LinkedIn carousels or short-form text posts. One tip per post, with two or three sentences of context explaining why it matters.
- Wednesdays: Expert Insight
  - Theresa's interview reels get uploaded natively to LinkedIn. The visuals stay the same; the caption gets rewritten to speak to a B2B audience.
- Fridays: Client Results
  - The Highlights posts get repurposed: what was the challenge, what did AMG do, what changed. Where possible, include numbers.

Key Difference Between Instagram and LinkedIn

- On Instagram, the audience is artists and peers scrolling. On LinkedIn, the audience is people actively evaluating whether to hire or partner with AMG. That changes everything about tone and format. Instagram posts can be punchy and visual-first. LinkedIn posts need to open with a clear point, support it with something specific, and end with a reason to take action.

Three-Phase Rollout

- Phase 1 (weeks 1-4): Build the foundation. Set up the company page, write the About section, and connect Theresa's personal profile. Publish five posts using existing high-performing Instagram content, rewritten for LinkedIn. The goal is to have a credible, complete page before actively promoting it.
- Phase 2 (weeks 5-12): Run the three-pillar system consistently. Post three times a week. Start following and engaging with target accounts: managers, A&Rs, independent artists with visible growth.
- Phase 3: Introduce a bi-weekly long-form post with a stronger point of view — a case study breakdown or an industry take. Evaluate which post types are driving profile visits and adjust accordingly.
